Greetings of the Season!

2016: An Eventful Year

As we enter the holiday season, we look back on 2016 with a mixture of emotions. We are gratified that your union was able to secure increased pay and improved working conditions for our membership this year. As a result of a protracted and sometimes difficult negotiation period, we can now all look forward to larger paychecks when we return to teach at Pace in the spring.

"Your union was able to secure increased pay and improved working conditions . . .
[and] we can now all look forward to larger paychecks
when we return to teach at Pace in the spring."

We continue to reach out to members and ask you to communicate with us about your concerns as well as your positive experiences at the university, and make us aware of your professional accomplishments and recognitions.

Taking a slightly broader view, we are coming out of one of the most unusual presidential election seasons in U.S. history. What the next 4 or 8 years will bring us only time will tell, but there will likely be an impact on K-12 and higher education, as well as on organized labor in this country. We should all pay attention as the policies of the new administration take shape, and we will enter the New Year hoping for the best.

The officers of the UAFP wish all our members a joyous holiday season, and a happy, healthy, prosperous and peaceful New Year.

In solidarity,
William Quinlan
President, UAFP
